

Wednesday 10th June at 4.30pm, via Zoom

TasTESOL with the National Portrait Gallery

Issues of identity and multiculturalism in the National Portrait Gallery

A live and interactive presentation of online portraits and education resources for students of all ages & backgrounds.

TasTESOL has organised a free presentation by the National Portrait Gallery in Canberra showcasing their fabulous online collection and educational resources. Using Zoom, they will look at 4-5 portraits related to the theme of multiculturalism and identity and discuss how they and others can be used in class (for all ages).

The NPG is expanding its virtual outreach programs (esp while galleries have been closed to public visits) and TasTESOL is very pleased to participate. The presentation comes highly recommended by our colleagues in ATEsol, ACT:

The brilliant thing about the NPG is that the programs can be designed in collaboration with their staff. There could be a focus on different themes, e.g. Indigenous Australians and their stories, women, Tasmanians, people in/from remote places, musicians, Australian history, democracy and more!

Please RSVP to bookings@npg.gov.au, and the Zoom link will be forwarded to you later.
Put the date on your calendar now, and please circulate this email.
